LT Tracy Tilghman
JOAG Voting Member
2011-2013

I am an at-large voting member of JOAG. I currently serve as the JOAG Policy and Procedures Committee Chair and Chair-Elect.

I earned my Masters degree in Public Health from the George Washington University in Washington, DC. I was called to active duty as a Health Service Officer in September 2008. My first duty assignment was Federal Occupational Health (FOH) in Bethesda, MD. During this time, I served as a Health Communications Consultant and assisted with creating, designing, and implementing health communication and social marketing initiatives. I also assisted with evaluating the effectiveness of business development-related initiatives and processes, including administering focus groups and related evidence-based tools.

In September of 2008, I transitioned to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER). In this capacity I serve as a Regulatory Information Specialist, providing oversight of computerized regulatory information and data pertaining to submissions managed by the Division of Epidemiology. I also work as Regulatory Coordinator of Postmarketing Commitments/Requirements (PMCs/PMRs), and provide training to a variety of users, reviewers, and managers on how to use product-related systems and their functionality.

It is an honor to represent the Health Services Officer Category and Junior Officers. I am excited and look forward to working with my fellow junior officers in the upcoming year.
